

Privacy Policy

Pennine Law operates the www.penninelaw.co.uk website which provides the Service

This page is used to inform website visitors regarding our policies with the collection, use and disclosure of personal information if anyone decides to use our Service.

If you choose to use our Service, then you agree to the collection and use of information in relation to this policy. The personal information we collect is used for providing and improving the Service. We will not use or share your information with anyone except as described in this Privacy Policy.

Information Collection and Use:

For a better experience while using our Service we may require you to provide us with certain personally identifiable information, including but not limited to your name, phone number, postal address and/or email. The information that we collect will be used to contact or identify you.

Under no circumstances will your personal information be sold or used by any other organisation.

Cookies:

Cookies are files with small amount of data that is commonly used – an anonymous unique identifier. These are sent to your browser from the website that you visit and stored on your computer's hard drive.

Cookies stay on your device for different periods of time:

Session cookies generally only last while you have your internet browser open and once you close your browser they're automatically deleted from your device.

Persistent cookies generally stay on your device after you close your internet browser unless your browser is set up to automatically delete them. They can be used by websites to remember your preferences when you open up your browser again.

Our website only uses cookies for the operation of the enquiry form and your name address and contact details will only be used to respond to your query.

We do not use analytical or performance cookies.

Service Providers

We may employ third party companies and individuals due to the following reasons:

- To facilitate our Service
- To provide the Service on our behalf
- To perform Service-related services; or
- To assist us in analysing how our Service is used.

We want to inform our Service users that these third parties have access to your personal information. The reason is to perform the tasks assigned to them on our behalf. However, they are obliged not to disclose or use the information for any other purpose.

Security - Where we store your personal data

All information you provide to us is stored on our highly secure servers that are managed 24/7 and not transferred outside the European Economic Area (“EEA”)

We value your trust in providing us with your personal information, thus we are striving to use commercially acceptable means of protecting it. However, transmission of information via the internet can never be completely secure, and whilst we use reasonable endeavours to protect your personal data we cannot guarantee the security of your data transmitted to our site and any transmission is at your own risk. Once your data is received we use strict procedures and security features to try to prevent unauthorised access.

Links to other sites

Our Service may contain links to other sites. If you click on a third-party link you will be directed to that site. You should note these sites are not operated by us, therefore we strongly advise you to review the Privacy Policy of such websites. We have no control over and assume no responsibility for the content, privacy policies or practices or any third-party sites or services.

Children’s Privacy

Our Services do not address anyone under the age of 13. We do not knowingly collect personal identifiable information from children under 13. In the case we discover that a child under 13 has provided us with personal information we immediately delete this from our servers. If you are a parent or guardian and you are aware that your child has provided us with personal information, please contact us so that we will be able to do the necessary actions.

Access to information

The Data Protection Act gives you the right to access information held about you. Your right of access can be exercised in accordance with the Act.

Changes to our privacy policy

Any changes to our privacy policy in the future will be posted on this page and are effective immediately.
